Wound infections are the most common complication in patients receiving orthopaedic care and are associated with significant morbidity and mortality. Even with recent advances in surgical technique and perioperative care, wound infections can be difficult to eradicate. The focus of this study was to assess our infection rates in patients admitted to the hospital for orthopaedic and trauma injuries. From January 2008 to February 2009, we retrospectively reviewed all patients admitted to our hospital with at least one orthopaedic or trauma wound infection. Patients who were treated elsewhere and presented to our hospital with an orthopaedic or trauma wound infection were excluded. Q: Python, Selenium: Dynamic form field entering python code instead of inserting text into the field I'm using python, selenium to fill out a form on a website and am running into an issue I'm not sure how to fix. Basically, I need to be able to input text into the address field, with python, not by clicking a submit button. The form looks like: I tried looking up how to do this on the web but all that happened was that I typed out the name of the element, and I didn't exactly know what to do with that information. What I've done so far, in my python code, is

from selenium import webdriver driver = webdriver.Chrome(r'C:\Users\HP\Desktop\video') driver.get('') elem = driver.find_element_by_id('address')
elem.send_keys(Keys.ENTER)

but that just replaced the text with the value of 'sdfafdfsfd' for the element 'address'. I'm still new to python and I'd love to have some help, thanks! Edit: Thanks for the reply Rhesus, I know how to do most of what you mentioned in your answer. I just need to know how to change the text in the field into the program so I can input something into it.

A: I've solved it, in python 2.7

from selenium import webdriver
driver = webdriver.Chrome()
driver.get('')
elem = driver.find_element_by_id('location')
elem.send_keys('Text')

it looks like this in python 3:

from selenium import webdriver
driver = webdriver.Chrome()

driver.get('') elem = driver.find
