The Belgrade Prosecutor's Office confirmed that Ekin is being investigated in the case but offered no other details, reported bne IntelliNews. "The assistant prosecutor has been charged with obtaining data from a computer without authorization and unauthorized use of an information system," said the statement, which cited Ekin's arrest warrant. The 24-year-old leader of the hacktivist group that gained notoriety after hacking into the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's website in December has been in hiding since April when police raided his apartment, arresting him in connection with the Department of Homeland Security's Web site attack. He has since been charged with multiple crimes including unauthorized access to a computer, a prosecutor said at the time of his arrest. He was also charged with the attempted extortion of a computer store owner who out of fear for his customers' safety refused to disclose the names of the people who bought the stolen computers. LulzSec reportedly targeted Belgrade-based IT firm Mercury Marine after hacking into the Serbian IT company's Web site. 6d1f23a050
